Secretary Ickes Sees Eight Nations Seek "Back to Farm" Moves U. S. Trade Contacts by Unemployed Groups As French Set Barrier

This Action, He Tells Roosevelt, Is Forced Upon Them By Fact That They'll Never Regain Old Jobs—Experience and Training Will Make Them Migrants.

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP).—Secretary Ickes today told President Roosevelt that eight nations are seeking to trade with the United States and France in their attempts to trade wine for farm products.

The difficulty was that France, after agreeing to increase her import quotas on American apples and pears in return for a larger allotment for wine shipments to the United States, intended to raise the tariff on the American fruit.

Maurice Garreau-Domestic, French commercial attaché, reported that he was unable to make any tariff concessions. When American negotiators refused to yield and recommended reinstatement of the larger French wine quota, M. Garreau-Domestic cabled Paris for instructions.

A new meeting will be held as soon as the reply is received, but today Spain, Portugal, Greece, Australia, South Africa, Chile, Russia, Argentina and all actively negotiated for large increases in their wine quotas.

Great Britain is after an increased Scotch whisky quota in return for a larger quota on American pork products. The British ambassador has also made representations on behalf of Australian and South Africa wine and Jamaica rum. It is understood all three units of the British Empire will be given small initial quotas.

Portugal offers concessions on American flour, and Spain concessions on tobacco in return for larger wine quotas.

Chile and the Argentine are also seeking increased wine allowances although no "trading" products have as yet been agreed upon. Rice has been suggested for Chile.

Industrial recovery and elimination of unemployment will accordingly be not simply a placement procedure of returning labor to jobs for which they are fitted, but rather a training procedure of preparing labor for the new jobs that have become available.

Increasing economic insecurity of the adult worker and abandonment of the youth of the nation to idleness and aimless drifting "or at best to misfit educational discipline" were seen as "the more serious problems emerging in our present economic order."

GOLD PRICE OF $34.06 AN OUNCE MAINTAINED

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP).—A domestic gold price of $34.06 an ounce was maintained by the government today for the second time.

This peak was reached yesterday when a five-cent increase lifted the RFC quotation above the two week level of $34.01.

Shortly after this boost, Acting Secretary Morgenthau commented that he was "satisfied" with the commodity price responses to the gold program on which the RFC has spent more than $50,000,000.

In London, bar gold was bringing $22.67 an ounce on the basis of sterling opening at $5.15 1/2 to the pound.

WHITE COLLAR RELIEF MEN PROTEST TEN PER CENT CUT.

New York, Dec. 19 (AP).—Two hundred white collar relief workers gathered at the state relief administration's office today to protest a ten per cent pay cut put into effect last week to ask "prevailing wage scales."

Frederick I. Daniels, director of the administration, promised he would do his best to increase the minimum wage from $15 to $18 a week. He declared, however, he saw no prospect of making the minimum for workers in supervisory jobs $45, as suggested by the federal government.

NEW YEAR'S DAY TEA DANCE AT K. OF C. AUDITORIUM.

On New Year's Day from 4 to 7 a tea dance will be held at the Knights of Columbus auditorium under the auspices of the Junior Auxiliary of the Benedictine Hospital.

Miss Elizabeth Murphy and Miss Margaret O'Meara are co-chairmen, and are assisting them a large committee. A very successful dance is anticipated as it will provide a final opportunity for the assembling of the many boys and girls from colleges and schools, as well as for many other friends of the hospital.

Construction Worker Killed

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 19 (AP).—Ivan H. Swanson, 47, of Jamestown, was killed today by a fall down an elevator shaft in the new post office building under construction here. Swanson was employed as foreman for the Dahlstrom Metallic Door Company of Jamestown, which was making installations in the new building. He was adjusting a template door gauge on the elevator shaft when the accident occurred.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP).—The position of the treasury December 16 was: Receipts, $51,839,888.82; expenditures, $61,009,598.27; balance, $1,265,446,294.60; customs receipts for the month, $15,267,859.45; receipts for the fiscal year, since July 1, $1,255,793,765.03. Expenditures, $2,273,215,088.50, including $907,887,432.54 of emergency expenditures; excess of expenditures, $917,455,243.47.

To Decorate Theatre Hopkins Wants Bands Seek to Determine Who For Junior League Not of "Oompah" Sort Shall Have Custody of Revue on Wednesday In All Beer Gardens Child in Court Action

Burgess Will Bank Theatre With Fragrant Bouquets and Cheery Flowers—Organ Concert Precedes Show.

A hum of approval and appreciation was heard all over the theatre last year as the audience entered for the Junior League Revue, and this was even before the curtain went up, because stepping inside was like entering a fragrant garden. On all sides were gorgeous, crimson poinsettias, banked against masses of green lending an atmosphere of elegance and festivity to the occasion.

And it is with great pleasure that the league announces that Valentin Burgess has again graciously consented to decorate this year. This, together with the delightful organ concert to be given by Walter Kidd, starting at 7:20, will have the audience in a gala mood as it waits for the broad curtains to part for the first scene of this supremely good show.

And Kingston has again proved that while she may be old in years, she is in the lead when change comes, for the Freeman had hardly been off of the press last week with the article carrying the story of the search for black nail-polish when the phone rang and an enterprising shop offered to bring it up the next day from New York. So due to the generosity and cooperation of the United Cut-Rate Shop, the German number will go on complete with the black polish for the dancers' toes.

The pre-sale of tickets has been such for the last few days that without doubt a capacity audience will be seated when the performance starts at 8:15. It is suggested that those wishing reserved seats get them at the box office immediately in order to secure the location especially desired. However there is not a really poor seat in the house and as there will be many League husbands ushering, there will be no confusion in the seating and everyone is assured of a seat.

State Liquor Control Suggested to Replace Two Per Cent Sales Tax

Plan Would Give State Control of Purchases and Sales of Hard Liquor—Would Be Similar to Canadian Laws.

New York, Dec. 19 (AP).—A state liquor control authority to obtain revenues from liquor sales as a substitute for a contemplated two per cent state sales tax was proposed today at a hearing of the New York State Commission for the revision of tax laws.

The control plan was outlined by Dr. Luther Gulick, of Columbia University, research advisor for the commission.

Dr. Gulick said the plan would provide for a wholesale hard liquor monopoly which would give the state control of all purchases and sales of hard liquor. The authority would consist of a body of trustees appointed by the governor for a long period. They, in turn, would appoint a general manager.

This authority would receive applications and grant permits for the sale of beverage goods in package form as well as in glasses for immediate consumption.

Dr. Gulick said the plan would, in effect, be similar to those operated in several provinces in Canada. He added it would eliminate the license plan which, he said, tends to stimulate the business too quickly.

It was explained that such control would enable the state to guarantee the quality of the liquor, thus reducing the present condition of allegedly inferior products about which complaint is being made by Dr. Shirley W. Wynne, New York city health commissioner.

Under this system, Dr. Gulick said, the state also would be assured of price control, considered an important problem in combating illicit trade. The tax on manufacturers would be turned over to the federal government, leaving only the control of distribution to the state.

Dr. Gulick said funds from such a liquor control plan would be used exclusively to relieve the real estate tax burden in the various communities of the state.

The proposed two per cent state tax on which the commission has been holding hearings in the state has been endorsed by the conference of mayors of the state and by real estate boards.

Senator Mastick said the plan, if enacted, would be passed on, mandatorily to the consumer and would cost consumers $130,000,000 a year. The proposed levy, he said, would affect every type of retailing, including doctors, lawyers and newspaper advertising.

Bailey Shows Slight Gain.

Boston, Dec. 19 (AP).—Irvin "Ace" Bailey, Toronto hockey player, unconscious and dying, showed a slight gain at noon today. In the Boston City Hospital where twice he has been operated on for a fractured skull, a bulletin issued by Dr. Donald Munro said: "Bailey has held the slight gain which he made following his relapse of last night."

Danced at Community Center

Pupils from Miss Helen Cashin's dancing school who recently danced on the cabaret and dance program at the Downtown Jewish Community Center were the Mimosas Jane Ball, Mildred Perry, Charlotte Norton, Leola Saddleire, Coraella Roe, Betty Rae McCallie, Mildred Blynn.

Would Work Double Benefit, Says Relief Administrator—People Could Sit, Talk, Forget Troubles and Musicians Would Have Work.

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP).—Harry L. Hopkins would like to see bands good ones; not the brass, pompous kind—in beer gardens and other public places.

The reasons, said the emergency relief director, are multifold:

"It would be a great employment relief measure. ... It would encourage people to go out and sit around and talk and forget their troubles. It should, however, be only a first class job."

Announcing that 458,995 single persons and heads of families had been transferred from relief rolls to Civil Works jobs in 133 localities in the last two weeks of November, Hopkins was asked what could be done about unemployed musicians.

In New York, he replied, a civic orchestra supported by relief funds is giving concerts at the Brooklyn Public Library while several string quartets and small bands are being similarly financed.

Already, Hopkins said, he is studying the possibilities of a recreational-musical plan.

He has talked with Eva Le Gallienne, and other music and art leaders, about this idea. And congress, he said, will be asked to let new appropriations for relief apply to many different sorts of projects now on the borderline.

Bread Dealer Killed, Thought a Gang Victim

Minardi, 47 Years Old, Shoots in Self Defense as Men Threaten Him After Questioning His Wife—Killers Escape.

New York, Dec. 19 (AP).—Giuseppe Minardi, a 47-year-old bread dealer, was shot to death shortly after he opened his store on East 14th street today. Police believed he was the victim of bread racketeers.

His wife, Mary, who witnessed the killing, said two men came into the store. Her husband was in a rear room drinking coffee.

One man approached the counter, she said, and asked three questions in rapid succession, not waiting for an answer to any of them.

"What do you mean by staying open on Sunday and selling bread? Where do you get your bread, anyway? Do you weigh it?"

She said he grabbed a loaf of bread and slammed it onto a scale. He did not look at the indicator, but pointed a revolver at her.

"Where's that husband of yours? Where's Giuseppe?"

Minardi parted the curtains that separated the front of the store from the rear, his wife said, and fired a shot from a revolver into a can of fruit juice on a shelf. He was the possessor of a permit for the gun.

The man who had threatened Mrs. Minardi fired three shots at the grocer, two of them striking their mark. Minardi fired once again and fell forward, dead.

The two men escaped.

Helen Keller Is Ill

Glasgow, Scotland, Dec. 19 (AP).—Helen Keller, the famous blind American educator, is ill in a hospital. It was stated that her condition was not serious and that she was expected to be able to leave the institution before the end of the week.

No Further Moves.

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP).—State department officials, informed of Samuel Insull's intention of going to England from Athens, today reiterated previous announcements that the United States would make no further moves in the Insull case until Insull had left Greece.

Christmas Trade Increase.

New York, Dec. 19 (AP).—Christmas trade for the first 15 days of December showed an average increase of 18 per cent over the corresponding period a year ago, a survey of the nation's leading department stores by the National Dry Goods Association showed.

Our Growing Population.

The following births have been reported to the board of health:

Religious Ruler Dies.

Lhasa, Tibet, Dec. 19 (AP).—The Dalai Lama, or Supreme Religious Ruler of Tibet, died Sunday at the age of 60, it was announced today.

He wielded supreme civil and religious power in the country.

Three Men Indicted Here on Charges of Kidnaping

Weinstein, Bergel and Napolitano Are Also Accused on Other Counts Growing Out of Alleged Hold-up of Forst Employees—Eight Sealed Indictments Filed By Grand Jury—Resolutions of Commendation Filed.

Indictments charging Samuel Weinstein, formerly of Kingston, Abraham Bergel and Thomas Napolitano of New York with kidnaping and intent to commit robbery, first degree, and also grand larceny, second degree, were handed up by the grand jury Monday afternoon when the grand jury submitted its report to Supreme Court Judge John T. Loughran.

The three men are charged with kidnaping as a result of an alleged attempted pay roll hold-up in this city on November 11, when it is charged they compelled Earl Snyder and Clarence Buddenhagen, Forst Packing Company employees, to accompany them on an automobile ride.

Snyder and Buddenhagen had gone to a local bank to make a deposit and were on their way back to the parking plant when they alleged their car was forced to the curb near the Hoffmann brewery by three men in a La Salle car. The men demanded the pay roll. Informing that they had no pay roll but had just made a deposit, they claim the men then compelled them to accompany them. One man got in the Forst car and the other two remained in the machine and compelled one of the Forst employees to enter that car. They drove south and attempts were made to search the Forst car for a pay roll. Near Orr's Mills Troopers arrested one of the drivers after the peculiar actions of the driver had made the Trooper suspicious. Following the Trooper the car ran off the road and it was then that the story was told by the man who was being held captive. A search later located the Forst car and the third man was arrested.

In city court after several hearings, the trio was held on a kidnaping and robbery charge for action of the grand jury.

Two indictments returned by the grand jury on Monday returned two indictments against the three men. The first indictment read charged each of the men with grand larceny, second degree, alleged to have been committed on November 11 in the city of Kingston. There were two counts in the indictment.

A second indictment charged four counts. First the charge of kidnaping on November 11; intent to commit robbery, first degree; intent to commit robbery, first degree, with the aid of a dangerous weapon and intent to commit robbery first degree aided by use of a motor vehicle.

Weinstein was the first man to have the charges read to him. A. J. Cook appeared and entered a plea of not guilty to the charges and he asked for a copy of the indictments. The clerk was directed to supply this. Mr. Cook then asked for ten days to change plea or make other motions or demur to the indictment. He asked that the case be held in supreme court for the ten day period. Bail was also asked fixed and Judge Loughran said he would entertain an application for bail. In the Weinstein case bail before indictment had been fixed by the court at $12,500 but was not given.

When Bergel was arraigned on the same charges he was represented by Chris J. Flanagan. Pleas of not guilty were entered and the same motions were made by counsel.

Did Not Want Counsel.

Thomas Napolitano, arraigned on the grand larceny charge, stated he had no counsel and did not want counsel. He informed the court that he did not desire the court to assign counsel. He entered a plea of not guilty and asked that bail be fixed. The court stated he would entertain a motion for bail. After being arraigned on the grand larceny charge Napolitano started to return to his seat but was halted by District Attorney Murray who read the second indictment charging kidnaping and attempted robbery. Napolitano, who appeared to be perfectly familiar with the procedure of the court, entered a plea of not guilty and stated he had no counsel and did not desire the court to appoint counsel. He asked that a motion for bail be entertained by the court and the judge granted the request. "Thank you," replied Napolitano in a loud tone as he turned and resumed his seat on the prisoner's bench.

When the three men were brought into court with the other defendants they were accompanied by a heavy guard. In addition to several court officers the trio was accompanied by two Kingston police officers, Sergeant Simpson, and in the rear of the court room were several State Troopers. At least two of the men have prior records.

Not Guilty, Says Nerval.

Anthony Nerval, of Kingston, charged with abandonment of children in violation of Section 459 of the Penal Law and also omitting to provide for minor children, alleged to have been committed on July 1, 1933, entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned and asked that counsel be assigned. While being arraigned he produced a paper from his pocket which he handed District Attorney Loughran.

City Commissioner Shirley W. Wynne Would Make Vague Labelling Punishable—Would Have Bottle Filling Supervised as Well.

New York, Dec. 19 (AP).—Dr. Shirley W. Wynne, city health commissioner, sought federal cooperation today in his effort to secure what he calls honest labels on whiskey bottles.

Driving ahead with his proposal to make vague labelling punishable here as a misdemeanor, he said:

"It is all very well for New York city to prescribe that a full statement of contents be included on the label, but the only practical way to insure the contents of the bottles is to exercise a supervision where they are filled, and that is a federal matter."

Dr. Wynne had announced he would make public this week a "black list" of poor and imitation whiskeys. He said yesterday, however, he would not disclose brand names at present because he is now convinced that abuse of the whiskey label is so widespread that none should be named until a more complete list can be compiled.

At a conference with Dr. Wynne yesterday, Dr. James M. Doran, head of the National Distillers' Institute, proposed to submit a label by next Thursday to meet the criticism here.

REPUBLICAN CLUB SANTA PARTY FOR DISTRICT CHILDREN

The Republican Club, town of Ulster, Fifth district, will hold a Christmas party for all the children of the district Thursday, December 21, at Saunders' Hall, Albany avenue, at 7 o'clock.

Santa Claus will be there and all children are invited.

All adults attending are requested to bring a small toy for the tree. Later these will be distributed to the children. Every member of the club is requested to be on hand and give the youngsters a good time.

HOMELESS MAN GIVEN HOME FOR ENSUING 60 DAYS

George Patterson, 67, who told the police he had no home, was arrested Monday afternoon for panhandling in the vicinity of the Rondout Creek Bridge. Patterson sustained a broken arm in a fall about a week ago, and the bone was set at the Vassar Hospital in Poughkeepsie. As he had no home he desired a shelter for the winter and Judge Culliton on his plea of guilty to the charge of panhandling, sentenced him to 60 days in the county jail.

them and to make a home for the boy's father. He said he knew of trouble between his son and his wife since their marriage and since there appeared to be difficulty in the family he was willing to have the lad and his father reside with him in order that the boy might enjoy the proper kind of home surroundings.

Arthur R. Ewig appeared for Mrs. Elsworth who denies the allegations and seeks custody of the boy and Mr. Elsworth was represented by New York counsel.

Judge Loughran reserved decision.

Beer Sale Receipts Still Subject to Tax

Albany, Dec. 19.—Receipts from the sale of beer are still subject to New York State's 1 per cent retail sales tax despite the exemption for liquors and wine. Mark Graves, president of the State Tax Commission, emphasized in an announcement here today.

Commissioner Graves has been notified by Deputy Commissioner John H. Thompson, director of the State Tax Bureau, that widespread misunderstanding of the situation was evidenced by a flood of inquiries from distributors.

"Chapter 815 of the Laws of 1933 enacted on August 29, 1933, provides for the taxation of liquors and wine during the interim period between the repeal of the 18th Article of Amendment to the Constitution of the United States and April 1, 1934," Commissioner Graves said. "Section 437, subdivision 9, of the Tax Law, as enacted by said Chapter 815, provides that the retail sales tax is not applicable to receipts from the sale of liquors and wine. But beer is not within the definition of liquors and wine contained in Sections 437-a and 437-b of the Tax Law as enacted by that Chapter."

The state official also pointed out that the entire receipts of beer sales are taxable, without any deduction for the expense of entertainment. "Beer may be sold for ten cents during the day, when no entertainment is furnished, and in the evening when entertainment is presented the same beer is twenty-five cents. In both cases the entire amount is subject to the sales tax."

LYONSVILLE.

Lyonville, Dec. 19.—Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Barley spent Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chester L. Roosa.

Miss Ethel Wager of Kingston, spent last week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Wager.

On Monday evening, the Young People's Community Club met at the home of Miss Mildred Barley. Presents were exchanged and a good time was had by all present.

Miss Marie Trowbridge, who has been ill for a few days at her home, has now returned to school.

Bobby Franz, who had the misfortune to hurt his foot last week, is now able to be back at school.

A Christmas Tree Party for the pupils of the Lyonville School will be held at the school Friday, December 22, at 1:15 o'clock. Members of the community are cordially invited to come. The children are expecting a visit from Santa Claus at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Barley called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chester L. Roosa on Sunday evening of last week.

California's bee industry contributes to the support of 14,000 persons and produces a revenue of $20,000,000 yearly.

WEST SHOKAN

West Shokan, Dec. 19.—The date now set for the West Shokan Baptist Sunday School entertainment, will be Christmas night, December 25. The program will consist of songs, recitations, plays and dialogues. Refreshments will be served following the program. A personal appearance of Santa Claus is confidently expected. The proceeds to extend a local medical mission to abroad.

The upper reservoir below formed by the steeply rising hills continued to rise after Friday night's rain. It is usually the case that several temporary freshets occur before the water runs permanently. The water and snow water must first have their outlets.

The scheduled initiation at Shokan I. O. O. F. Lodge for Saturday night has been postponed till the next meeting, December 23. Both the second and third degrees probably will be given then the program of class of candidates, namely Wilson Terwilliger and Earl Christiansa.

Christmas practice was held at the West Shokan School Saturday morning with local Kingston High School students taking part. During the afternoon a similar practice was held for the Sunday School entertainment.

Wilson Terwilliger, popular driver of the milk route to the State Hill milk and cream plant at Kyserville was running a good schedule Saturday morning due to the icy traveling conditions encountered enroute.

Local milk producers shipping their product to the State Hill Milk and Cream Company were handed their checks for November milk on Saturday morning by Wilson Terwilliger.

Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Jones of West Shokan Heights spent a pleasant day on Thursday with their congenial Broadhead Heights neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bell and family, John Nagle of Main street has returned from a business trip to Brooklyn. While in the city Mr. Nagle embraced the opportunity of availing himself of the services of a dentist.

Amos 'n' Andy, in the personalities of Amos Meade and "Doc" Linden Ackertley, former members of Constable's Royal Delawares, have been engaged to entertain at a dance party following a Christmas turkey shoot to be staged Monday at Joe Meyer's hold open house to the general public. Besides 50 turkeys mine host, Mr. Meyers, has a variety of other species of fowl and mammals to shoot at.

INGER, LOAN BARRINGER, CLAYTON BARRINGER.

The busy day of Friday was utilized by Julian Eckert of West Shokan Heights, it being a rest day for his training work, to fall off his crop of fire on the broad barn floor. In years gone by even long after the advent of threshing machines, it was common practice among farmers to have their rye threshed by hand. Rye straw is bundles found a ready market and provided many a farm with a bit on his winter tax money.

Mike Dwyer, deceased two years Saturday, in his younger years threshed many thousands of sheaves of rye for his farmer neighbors. Mr. Dwyer's conventional daily remuneration was at the rate of a dollar a day and his dinner. One fall and winter Mr. Dwyer threshed 3,193 sheaves for Eli Burgher, who owned the present Maple Dell farm. Another 2,600 sheaves threshing followed for Henry Boice, then residing along the Shokan big way main road.

Mr. Boice at the age of 77 or 78 still lives in Phoenixia. This was along in the early gay nineties. Threshing rye meant a good job for a cold day.

Due to the severe weather and bad driving conditions the high school bus was nearly an hour behind schedule here Friday morning. Some of the pupils waiting along the route were nearly frozen stiff when the old White bus finally hove into view. At Shokan "Keator", who has the west side regular run, was found to be waiting with the newer heated bus which he had failed to get started before the "Old White" had to finally be called into service. Part of the crowd transferred to Keator's bus, but the remainder continued on with their old friend, Mr. Van De-mark, dean of the Merrimack Line drivers.

The children were greatly pleased that their teacher, Mrs. Edward West, was able to resume her duties again on Friday.

Elwyn Davis, having kept corn feeding along his remaining pair of porkers since the first killing a month ago, laid 'em low on Friday, as the sleety weather proved too unfavorable for a planned wood sawing bee. The sturdy "handy Andy" assistants were Harold Constable and Irving Hesley. Planking a speedy 22-long rifle bullet between the eyes cases off about 30 per cent of the conventional scuffling and throwing end connected with a hog sticking job.

It is learned that Mrs. George Vincent of Port Ewen, leader of the Marlborough school, unfortunately smashed her car quite badly while enroute to her school Friday morning. The accident is said to be due to the terribly sleety driving conditions encountered on the lower south boulevard, causing Mrs. Vincent to crash into a concrete guard post. Several years ago Mrs. Vincent, then Miss Spencer, taught the West Shokan school and proved herself to be decidedly well liked by her pupils as well as the people of the district.

Judge Fred L. Weidner is back to his happy home, bees and cows, and wood sawing. The genial and venerable Judge reports that while he had a pleasant visit in glamorous Goshen the atmosphere waited down from the spruce-crowned Whitehorn in more in keeping with his contented sense of old home spirit.

Irving Hesley has a sleek fattened beef cow to butcher early next week with the new moon now coming right. Irving, along with other farmers, are inclined to hold to the notion that meat butchered in the new of the moon is not affected by shrinking as in the decline from full moon.

Between his general day by day helping of his neighbors Harold Constable, local "Handy Andy", manages to get enough wood down from the old homestead acres to keep the kitchen stove burning.

A heavy fog blanket enveloped this locality Saturday morning, causing bad visibility for driving.

Mrs. Laurence Healey of Main street, while returning from a Kingston shopping trip Friday morning found herself much inconvenienced by the freezing rain which kept forming heavily on the windshield of her car.

The date set for the West Shokan schoolhouse entertainment is Friday evening, December 22.

ALLIGERVILLE

Alligerville, Dec. 19.—Although the weather was bad and the roads icy there was a large attendance out to hear the pageant-drama, "Let There Be Light," in the Reformed Church Sunday evening. All who attended feel very grateful to the pastor and his band of helpers for giving this inspirational entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Christiansa were very pleasantly surprised one evening recently when a car of young people from Kingston came to give them a friendly call. They were Mr. and Mrs. Miller and the captain and lieutenant of the Salvation Army. They enjoyed the hour in singing, reading and prayer. Their coming was surely appreciated by the elderly couple.

Miss Beaula Harnden of Brooklyn spent last week at Trowbridge Farm. The parents and friends of the pupils of the school are invited to the entertainment in the schoolhouse Friday evening, December 22.

Plan Christmas Program. Mettacaohs, Dec. 19.—The Mettacaohs grade school will have a Christmas program in the Mettacaohs Hall under the direction of Miss Mildred Roosa, teacher. It will be given at 8 o'clock Friday, December 22. The program consists of plays, dialogues, songs, musical numbers and recitations. All are cordially invited.

Uster Park Grange And Sunday School

Uster Grange, No. 969, of Uster Park will hold its regular meeting on Wednesday evening, December 20, at 8 o'clock. This will be the regular Christmas meeting and a good turnout is looked for. There will be a tree and each person attending will bring a gift for the tree, and the lecturer will have a Christmas program. Members and their families are welcome. A pot luck supper will be served at the close of the meeting. Each family will bring some articles of food.

The Sunday School of the Reformed Dutch Church will hold its Christmas exercises on Saturday evening, December 23, at 7:30 o'clock. There will be songs and recitations by the primary department, and two short pageants by the Junior department. Santa Claus is expected to be present to distribute the presents. The Sunday school has been very active and much interest has been shown in this Christmas

Fire Drills, Visits And Basketball, All Figure at C. C. Camp

Shaw, Dec. 18—Saturday morning found the woodmen of the 25th Co., C. C. C., remaining in camp at Boiceville, engaged on duty about the grounds. Although ice and snow covered much of the upper Kaopus valley, the grounds of the big camp presented a picture of bare ground and boardwalks, with very little snow to be seen. There had been no field work on Friday on account of the stormy weather, the day having been spent by a majority of the personnel in hauling a supply of firewood and putting it up for the saw. As a result of this wholesale wood-gathering activity there was plenty of work for the boys Saturday morning in this camp of camp duties alone. A used saw and frames have been secured for changing the cordwood lengths into stuff for the 20 stoves of the camp and when this outfit is put into commission there will be a great saving of hard labor among the wood-rangers. Doubtless some of the boys have had their fill of pulling a cross-cut saw and will welcome this change in the wood-pile system.

Visits and Fire Drills

Sunday, December 10, Camp No. 2 was visited by Colonel Reynolds, Second Corps Area surgeon, who came up from Governor's Island to make an inspection of the infirmary and barracks. On Monday, men and trucks were engaged in hauling gravel from the west side of the reservoir for use in improving the grounds. Also, the installation of numerous pieces of fire apparatus throughout the several units of the camp was completed. Fire protection at No. 2 is now perfected to the nth degree, Lieut. Nathan Armour, officer in charge of preventive means, having spared no effort to safeguard the buildings and their occupants and contents in this respect. A fire drill, such as is held at regular intervals, took place Friday and every man in the company was present or accounted for upon this occasion. December 12, the plumbing fixtures were installed in the infirmary, a well-equipped building located at the west end of the first level of the grounds. There is a sick call from 7:30 a. m. and another from 4:15 p. m., daily except on Sundays and holidays. The ailing men, if any, are examined at these hours by Lieut. Sydney Friedrich, camp medical officer, and if their condition warrants confinement they are sent to the ward at the Kaopus creek side of the infirmary. The ambulance brought to Boiceville last week is kept in readiness for emergency calls. The health of the boys generally continues excellent. As a preventive measure against colds and sore throats, the woodmen upon returning from field work are required to change from boots to dry socks and shoes. Their lumberman's socks must be hung up to dry and boots laid out with flaps turned back.

Odin and Kiosk

A basketball game Tuesday night between the camp team and the 2 N. P. Fire of Kingston was won 46-26 by the home boys. Wednesday the job of covering the eight state trucks with canvas was completed. One of the many innovations which have been planned and executed in the interest of the woodmen's health and comfort. The eight-truck garage and repair shop at the east end of the grounds is now practically ready for occupancy. Construction work on a second garage will be started in the near future, according to Lieutenant Otto Wiesnke, commanding officer at Camp No. 2. It is probable that this will be the last unit to be erected as there is little more room for any more buildings, unless the strip of lowland along the creek, where the incinerator is located, may be considered as such. Ulster county's own C. C. C. camp in fact already has more substantially built structures than is found in many a small village. But just a moment, please—"Billy" Gademian, proprietor of the canteen, told The Freeman man Saturday that he plans to build another addition onto his store and lunch room, lumber for this purpose having been secured of Albert North who got the stuff from a building he tore down in Kingston. Mr. Gademian keeps enlarging the canteen from time to time; he now has four rooms and a fifth one is needed for storing supplies and thus enable him to enlarge the lunch room.

Administration Inspected

Thursday, December 14, Major Gillilan, district executive from Albany, came to Camp No. 2 and inspected the administration. In the evening there was a basketball game at White Eagle Hall, Kingston, between the Lucky Fire and the woodmen quintet. The boys of the great open spaces got trimmed this time, to the tune of 42-25. But never mind, that doesn't happen very often. The Boiceville toasters are good—very good—and the sports loving folks have already vied up to that fact. The regular Friday evening game at the Chickasaw Hall, which last week was played with the Fleischmanns team, resulted in one more victory being chalked up to the C. C. C. organization. The game and dance next Friday will be omitted due to the fact that a large number of the men will be absent on Christmas Eve. Those who elected to go home for Christmas outnumber the New Year's vacationers three to one. The old camp will look kind of lonesome for a few days but the home guard will have a good time over the holiday. There will be a big feed, entertainment and a prevailing Yuletide spirit. A fine Christmas tree has been cut and set up on the company parade grounds. Also, there is the new recreation hall with its varied facilities for music and games—a place, warm and cheery, where the boys may foregather and co-mingle in good fellowship.

Your reporter enjoys browsing around in the big storehouse on the second level of the camp, "per occasion." He finds the new racks and shelves there a great improvement, as doubtless also does "Joe" Argo, the storekeeper. Here is a vast stock of such goods as overalls, trousers, moccasins, boots and shoes, socks, caps, O. D. blankets, quilts, mattresses and covers, pillows, beds, brooms and brushes, soap, stove polish, lanterns, snow and other shovels, mats, coats, shoes, hats, garbage cans, and in fact, whatnot. It is the old time country store all over again, with the difference, however, that there is very little in the stock that could possibly be of interest to the average female of the species. The company store, together with the canteen, does supply to men of the outdoors type practically everything they require in the way of necessaries and luxuries. Saturday evening the men stationed at the camp were scheduled to join the Y. M. C. A. of Kingston in a get-together meeting. The men were to leave Boiceville in trucks at 7 o'clock. Amusement features planned for the evening included basketball, bowling, ping-pong, pool, billiards, chess, checkers and other contests. Boxers selected to represent Camp No. 2 at the district bouts at Albany tonight are Charles Smith, West Hurley heavyweight, and James Mallor, a light heavyweight from Schoenectady. In case anything occurs to prevent "Jimmy" from making the trip, his place will be taken by James Tiano, a former Kingston H. S. lad who is doing good work in the light-heavy class. Boxers in other weights will be designated to attend the several contests which it is expected will be held at intervals throughout the winter.

Education Supervisor

A plan, destined to go into effect immediately, under the supervision of a directing board in Washington, calls for a civilian education supervisor for each of the C. C. C. camps in the country. A new educational program, as worked out under the plan of Robert Fechner and approved by President Roosevelt, aims to give every man in the conservation corps an opportunity for schooling, though participation is not compulsory. The move will give employment to 1,655 male teachers who will be selected with the aid of state educational officials. There will also be a civilian educational advisor in each of the size camps areas who will assist the corps area commander in determining the program within the area. Equipment in the form of text books and the like will be provided and an attempt will be made to furnish each company with those opportunities for education which the commanding officer of each camp thinks best suited for his company. The schools probably will be conducted in the recreation or assembly halls, such as is now in use at Boiceville for classes and lectures.

Ira Freeman, chaplain of the Western Pennsylvania C. C. C. district which has 59 camps, 352 commissioned officers, 236 enlisted army men and 16,000 C. C. C. members, strikes an interesting note in a recent issue of "Happy Days", when he brings out the important fact that the 300,000 lads of the corps not only are supporting themselves but some 1,500,000 members of their families as well. "What a wise investment!" says the chaplain. "It is a part of the President's New Deal. The game is being played. The Civilian Conservation Corps is trumps. I thank God that I have been permitted to live to see the day when the conservation of deflated and inflated American dollars ranks second in importance to the conservation of the morale and manhood of the nation. "When the day's work is over and the lads have wolfed their evening mess, they are not turned loose. Not much. Their minds must be trained as well as their bodies. The right kind of people are always warmly received at the camps, but the Stars and Stripes floats over every camp as a solemn warning that bootleggers, chiselers, cranks and criminals enter at their peril."

Down in Tennessee

Down in Tennessee, Co. 1471 has reclaimed upwards of 500 acres of eroded and gullied land for farmers and has, in addition, underway the construction of four 60-foot fire-lookout towers for the protection of half a million acres of forest land heretofore annually devastated by fire. Each of these towers will be in direct communication with seven fire wardens and deputies, and each tower connected by telephone with a neighboring tower 30 miles distant which in turn communicates with seven fire wardens, i. e., 28 fire wardens will be in constant communication with the lookout man stationed on each tower. Moreover, by a process of telescopic observation and map triangulation, the observers at the tower, who are constantly on watch during the season of fire hazard, will be able to locate a fire at its inception within a known area of 500 feet. Thus, by a system of successive reports, the fire will be fought actively within half an hour of the time when it is first discovered. This would appear to be getting the fire-prevention system down to a pretty fine point. It will be a good thing for the glorious Catskills when a network of towers and telephones is provided for the safe-guarding of the forests of northern Ulster and the adjacent counties.

Oldest C. C. C. Member

Company 530, Camp Funeral Range, Death Valley, Calif., now claims the honor of having the oldest C. C. C. member, the doughty ancient being none other than "Pop" Douglas, 73 years young, an erstwhile typical desert prospector with face tanned to a leathery texture, eyes blue and bright, set in a maze of wrinkles and a thatch of snow-white hair. Tom Douglas mined at Rhyolite, Nevada, ghost city reminiscent of a vanished era, when the thortofare yclept Golden street was a bedlam of clinking glasses, whooping miners, singing waiters and the town boasted three railroads, honky-tonks and a street car line. Tom, in fact, was when it "when." "Oh, yes, I've hit it a little," old Tom says. "But just in little pockets. I'm not in the class with Shorty Harris, Bill Cochran, or any of those boys who made the big strikes and then tossed them away. Shorty Harris sold four mining claims for a couple of barrels of whiskey, and then set the whiskey up on the main street corner in Rhyolite and chained a dipper to the barrel." Pop still has his weather eye open; he aims to make for the Nevada mining country after his enlistment is up, for he doesn't purpose to miss a strike. If shanks mare or the little gray burros that roam the hills can take him to it.

Money In Circulation

The 300,000,000 feet of lumber purchased for construction of conservation corps camps came in pretty handy to the lumber industry, which according to the National Lumber Manufacturers Association was tided over a rather critical period, being put over the hump of readjustment occasioned by the NRA. It might be added that, putting the camps "under wood" came in mighty handy for an army of contractors, carpenters and day laborers. It would be interesting to know how much money was put into circulation in Kingston and northern Ulster county by reason of the extensive construction program at Camp No. 2. And the end is not yet, apparently, as farmers who sell cordwood to the camp, and dealers who supply it with provisions and other necessities will attest. Camp No. 37, at Sherburne, home of the 26th Co., is located in an historic country, annual meeting ground of the famous Six Nations, and, being on a high hill overlooking the valley of the Chenango River, its site combines beauty of prospect with historic tradition. Settlers from Connecticut founded Sherburne and here, later on, came the only daughter of President John Adams, with her husband, Colonel Smith, an officer on Washington's staff. The

Because... Your Investment Is Safe. That Is The Reason...

Thousands of People are Investing Money in Savings and Loan Associations.

A Savings and Loan Association is a mutual, co-operative financial institution, where all members share the same privileges, work together to save money, acquire homes and help build up the community in which they live. It brings together on the one hand those who are desirous of saving and investing their funds in an institution where they know safety is of paramount consideration, and where a generous rate of return is assured. On the other hand, it attracts those who are seeking a simple, effective plan of borrowing on first class security.

By thus serving both the saving and investing public, and the borrower, it occupies a very important position in the community.

old Smith place, on which the camp stands, on October 15, was a rolling farm covered with broomage. On November 22, 25 days later, a completed camp—wired, plumbed and newly carpentered, was ready for occupancy. In the meantime a water and sewage system had been installed. This is said unofficially to be a record in camp construction exceeding the records made in the feverish activity of the war. The outfit formerly lived in tents at Haverhill, N. Y., in the Adirondack Mountains. The work assigned to the boys included the construction of duck ponds for the state game farm, also the thinning of forests and grading.

Mrs. Slaght Injured.

Mrs. Herbert Slaght of 68 New-kirk avenue sustained injury to her legs on Monday afternoon when she fell on the steps of the main entrance to the city hall. She was taken to the Kingston Hospital for treatment by members of the police department.

Flashes of Life
Sketched in Brief

By The Associated Press

The Much Is Enough.

Milwaukee—Mrs. Mary Orenkovic pleaded in vain with her sons, Steve, 21, and John, 18, when they allegedly took articles from her home and sold them for spending money. But when she said they sold the electric motor of the washing machine, forcing her to use her knuckles on a washboard, Mrs. Orenkovic decided to tell her troubles to the district attorney. Her request for warrants charging Steve and John with vagrancy was granted.

After the Opera's Over.

Pittsburgh—Here's what John J. Lutz, caretaker at Syria Mosque, says he finds after every opera performance: About a pound of chewing gum that has to be chiseled off seats by four assistants, half a peck of cigarette butts, two bushels of cigar wrappers and—and this is what hurts—reams of torn paper that the balcony boys hurl into the auditorium.

Avoid Color Flashing.

Lansing, Kas.—Kansas state penitentiary style notes: All sweaters sent to inmates as Christmas presents must be in subdued tones. Prison officials say a "loud" sweater sometimes causes the wearer to "show off" before his fellow prisoners, thus arousing jealousy.

Perfect Limbs.

Chicago—Some 147,000 Americans use artificial limbs. This information came from the association of limb manufacturers whose members said such appliances have been so perfected that handicapped persons forget their misfortunes. A seamless limb of aluminum alloy was exhibited. Of 3,000 engaged in the industry, 2,000 wear artificial limbs.

A Noble Purpose.

Peoria—When George W. Milligan took the stand in the government's case against an alleged kidnaper, he testified he had been told that the $5 bills he confessed he helped counterfeit were to be used to bolster the cash reserves of weak banks. He appeared as a witness for the government.

A Nail Brings Tragedy.

Chicago—Two years ago four-year-old Jean Buckingham swallowed a nail. Yesterday she died of pneumonia which developed after the nail's removal. Her parents were unaware of the nail's presence in the child's body until she complained a week ago of a pain in her left lung.

Chief of Wheels.

Cresson, Pa.—The Cresson Volunteer Fire Company still stands by its tradition of electing bald-headed men to its chief offices, but a note of doubt crept into last night's meeting. The company elected bald-topped Edward A. Auzandt as president for the eleventh consecutive year and Robert J. Kenny as chief—also for the eleventh straight year—but this was where the element of doubt entered. Somebody moved and somebody seconded and then everybody voted "aye" to buy Kenny a pair of roller skates; it seems the chief has been late getting to meetings and fires recently. However, he was elected by acclamation.

Block Christmas.

Leavenworth, Kas.—The 1,550 prisoners in the Federal penitentiary annex here may hang up their stockings or socks on Christmas Eve, but they will be empty next morning. None of the inmates is allowed to receive Christmas presents. Most of the men confined in the annex are violators of the anti-narcotic laws, and officials are taking no chances on friends smuggling "dope" to them.

WILL TRY OUT NEW 1934 CHEVROLETS IN DETROIT.

Abel B. Abernethy and Roy M. Sutliff, of the Colonial City Chevrolet, Inc., today join 300 other Chevrolet dealers from the Atlantic coast region in a trip to Detroit. They will visit the General Motors proving grounds, where they will see and try out the new 1934 Chevrolet models, soon to be placed on exhibition.

Students registered at the Alaska School of Mines for the winter's mining course ranged in ages from 18 to 65 years.

CHILDRENS COLDS

Talks to parents

A Practical Christmas

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH

All over the world there are countless parents who are wondering what they can do to make Christmas a joyful season.

Hundreds of people to whom Christmas has been a time of lavish expenditure find themselves too poor for anything approaching former years.

But Christmas is a mood rather than a festival. With the right spirit even a very slim purse can make a joyous holiday out of it.

There are many things which in better years we give the children, not as presents, but as matter of course necessities—mittens, mufflers, woolen socks, silk stockings, dainty lingerie. There was a time when such things were hard to acquire, and the giving and receiving of them was an occasion.

Why not go back to the ways of our ancestors?

Does Tommy need new mittens? Let him put his hands in his pockets for a day or two and learn how cold hands can feel, and he will open joyously the gorgeously wrapped warm mittens on Christmas morning.

Does Marjorie want a new doll? Why not set up a doll's hospital and renovate the old ones? A little paint and glue will do wonders for the doll family, and if mother adds a new outfit for them, the joy of the little mother when she sees her refurbished family will repay the trouble.

Sally, who is growing up, is short on underwear or stockings. Let her go short a little longer, and then, when she is quite desperate, have the new clothes ready for Christmas.

It is the thrill of preparation, the atmosphere of everyone thinking of others which gives Christmas most of its flavor. In the years of plenty we lost much of it, and perhaps it is one of the treasures which hard times will give back to our children.

The set of hat, gilet and glove at the upper left takes on a Russian tempo with its astrakhan cloth material, the little cosack lines of the hat, and the high to the neck buttoning collar on the gilet. The buttons are silver.

The other set is done in ermine cloth, the hat in sectional shaping and all the pieces including the slashed cuff gloves bound in black. The single glove at the top right, is in satin bengaline with the cuffs shirred with latex so they may be worn up or down.

New York—Let us forget that late fashions among the formalities of the season, let's look in at a collection of French dresses made almost entirely of lace. They are really lovely, and full of the grace and dignity that exude from women of importance.

Chanel, Maggy Rouff, Ardales, Lanvin, and Lachin are responsible for these models designed for formal afternoon or cocktail wear, as well as for dinner and evening occasions.

The all-over approved is a slender, long, and movement introduced a demure, sometimes in a shallow dounce that mounts at the back, and again in a puffed dounce that comes to a point at the front. Trailing demure and in giving the long slender outline, and folds posed at the back take on the form of gores and gores, and are delicately contrasted also through shirring, sometimes posed at a high neckline.

Necklines are varied as to treatment, with a high neckline, the shoulders, expressed in capes that are detachable, revers, capes that cover the shoulders, in flat resette shapings, and in draped bandings. Sometimes capes have a crisp shoulder outline through taffeta facings, and flower accents and necklines that are slashed at the back are important. Occasionally, too, necklines suggest harness details.

Combinations of lace with another medium are interesting; for example, a gray lace dinner dress has long gray velvet sleeves, and marquisette and lace are allied in the more frothy type of dress, with delicate appliques adding to the charm of the gown. The dinner gown with long sleeves, sometimes softly pulled at the upper arm, with high neckline, is conspicuous in this group.

Attention is called to a new quality in laces, one that gives them the swish of taffeta. Other laces that look decidedly different give an impression of sequins.

Copyright, 1933, by Fairchild

The evening costume is developed in peach color chiton, finely pleated, the pleats released to flare at the knees. The smart little jacket is all-over embroidered in matching beads, with tie ends at neckline and waistline.

Mrs. Fred Bond and daughter have returned from a visit to Oswego.

Tips on CONTRACT

Assumptions By TOM O'NEIL

When a player is in a difficult contract, at times the only hope of success lies in assuming an arrangement of cards in the hands of opponents which would permit success.

Bids by opponents, especially opening bids and doubles, may locate key cards so that the assumption can be tempered somewhat with certainty.

An excellent example comes from New London, Conn., in a hand played by Mrs. Florence Fitch Osborn.

NORTH
SAKS4
AK105

WEST

EAST

AK72
AK632
AK9
AK732

East made an opening bid of one diamond. Mrs. Osborn, seated South, naturally passed. West went to two diamonds. North doubled to make South bid. East offered three diamonds, and Mrs. Osborn made an optimistic overcall of three hearts. She assumed that her partner's double indicated strength in the majors. West passed, and North took the contract to four hearts, which East doubled. West opened the ace of diamonds, and Mrs. Osborn took stock.

She reflected that East's opening bid and double without possession of the ace of diamonds and the lack of strength shown in West's bidding must mean that East had the king of clubs, the king of hearts and probably the queen of spades.

Evidently the club finesse would lose and the heart finesse, too. If so, she figured out a way to make the contract on the assumption that East held only one club besides the king.

After West took his ace of diamonds he shifted to the spade three, which was taken in the North hand with the king. The heart knave was led and won when East refused to cover. The lead of the heart ten followed. East again refused to cover, and South went up with the queen. She then ruffed the last diamond from her hand with the last heart North.

Came now the test of the assumption as to the club doubler. The lead of the ace of clubs, followed by a low club, put East in the lead. He led the queen of spades, which South allowed to hold in order that West should not get the lead.

If the queen were taken in the North hand immediately, anything that could be led from North could be taken by the opponents and the king of hearts would make.

East led with his last spade, but Mrs. Osborn won with the ace and took the rest of the tricks after a spade lead, ruffed South. The opposition made only the diamond ace, the club king and the spade queen.

POLITICS at Random

CAUTION is the distinctive note of the administration's approach to its new task of liquor regulation. Everything that is done is of tentative character. Headlong decisions or experiments are discouraged from higher up.

Very definitely the laws were applied to the repeal campaign the moment it passed over the crest of the hill.

Now it is the wet organization rather than the dry which is the object of administrative policy.

The problem seems certain to be one in politics for a long time to come, and the administration will take pains not to associate itself exclusively with one side or the other for the present.

Under the surface, forces are at work to eradicate, on both sides, that extreme bitterness which was so common during the prohibition era.

Many leading churchmen who battled for prohibition have indicated to the White House they are willing to meet the administration half way.

It was not announced, but the Federal Council of Churches moved its December meeting from New York to Washington especially to make the President's attendance possible.

A Central Bank?

TALK of a central United States bank recently has been revived. Such an institution, owned entirely by the government, would take over the preferred bank stock and other collateral held by the R.R.T., enable the government to manage and discharge many other functions, such as central government banks in foreign countries to perform.

Some important business men would not be surprised if legislation for such a bank were introduced in Mr. Roosevelt's January message to congress.

SPECIAL interesting reports from administration investigators preceded establishment of the new national emergency council which is to have a branch in every county, coordinating recovery activities and giving out information.

Some weeks ago a member of the "brain trust" came back from a western tour complaining that the recovery program was not understood at all and suggesting that a comprehensive publicity system be set up to reach rural communities. More recently, General Johnson and others have been arguing for a central authority to each locality to speak for all of the recovery agencies.

Just how the new nationwide network will be handled constitutes one of the most fascinating questions in the Washington picture today. Any such far-reaching system has a long way to go before it is a reality.

After it's Boiled Down

The bill is a consolidation of the various farm bills which have been introduced in the House of Representatives. Basil C. Potter Elected Worshipful Master Monday Evening—Other Officers Elected and Appointed—Social Hour Followed Annual Meeting.

Basil C. Potter was elected worshipful master of Rondout Lodge, No. 317, Free and Accepted Masons, at the annual meeting held Monday evening in the lodge rooms in the Masonic Building, Broadway and Strand. The other officers elected were: Senior warden, John F. Romo; Junior warden, Henry Milonig; Treasurer, John F. Rowland, and secretary, P. H. Carey.

Alfred W. Tongue, who has served the lodge as its secretary for the past 15 years, declined re-election.

Film Director Named In Alienation Suit

Lost Angeles, Dec. 19 (AP).—Victor L. Fleming, prominent film director, was accused in a $150,000 suit today of alienating the affections of Mrs. Paul A. Lockwood, wife of a studio cameraman.

The suit charged the director abandoned Mrs. Lockwood, daughter of Carter De Haven, actor, after a trip to San Francisco October 4, and Mrs. Lockwood subsequently was placed in a sanatorium for mental treatment.

The action was filed yesterday, only a day after disclosure of Fleming's secret marriage of last September 26 to Lucille Rossen, Beverly Hills Society girl.

An attorney for the director admitted the "Victor Fleming" named in the complaint was his client, but denied all of Lockwood's allegations.

Court to Assign Counsel.

Louis Stickles of Olive Bridge, arrested with Ralph Cline for the taking of a car in Kingston on December 2, was arraigned on a charge of carrying a dangerous weapon. Stickles and Cline, two youths, came to Kingston and were observed by Officer Burger on St. James street in a car. They attracted the attention of the officer and when he halted them he found they had just taken a car from the neighborhood and were off on a trip of adventure. Cline was but 17 years old. When arraigned Stickles said he desired to enter a plea of guilty. However the court asked him if he did not desire to talk first to a lawyer, and Stickles said he did. The court will assign counsel.

Fercy W. Brooks of West Camp, charged with burglary, third degree, alleged to have taken place on November 22, and also unlawful entry, entered a plea of not guilty. He volunteered the information that he was not out of his home that evening and could prove it. Counsel will be assigned the youth.

John Knapp, charged with attempt to commit the crime of sodomy on October 12, entered a plea of guilty but the court will assign counsel to talk with him before disposition of the case.

District Attorney Murray asked that an order be made transferring the Neville and Brooks cases to county court and also the sealed indictments. There were 5 sealed indictments filed by the grand jury.

No Bills of Indictment Found.

No bills of indictment were found in the following cases and the bail bonds were ordered cancelled: Cora Humphrey, charged with violation of the A. B. C. law.

Herbert and Vincent Johnson and Lewis Bevier, charged with rape.

Franco Hasbrouck of Stone Ridge, charged with manslaughter, growing out of an automobile accident.

Elliott Addis of Rochester, charged with burglary, third degree.

Judge Loughran then dismissed the members of the grand jury with the thanks of the court.

Resolution Filed.

The following resolution of commendation was filed with the court and directed spread upon the minutes of the court by Judge Loughran:

The members of the Grand Jury in attendance at the December term of Supreme Court, having completed their duties, desire at this time to place on record their appreciation of the courteous treatment which has been extended by the various county officials during their sessions.

A number of cases have been presented to this Grand Jury for consideration by District Attorney Cleon B. Murray and his assistant, N. Le Van Haver. The members of the Grand Jury desire to express their appreciation of the manner in which these matters have been presented. Careful preparation of the matters to be brought to the attention of our body has made our work a comparatively easy matter. The able manner in which witnesses sworn before us have been examined has simplified our work and we desire at this time to compliment the District Attorney and his Assistant for their able and competent guidance. Under their direction a large volume of business has been transacted at a minimum of cost to the taxpayers of the county. To William P. Glan, our stenographer, we also desire to express our thanks and appreciation for his able service.

An inspection of the county jail and the court house property has been made and we find this property in the care of Sheriff John H. Saxe in good condition. The premises are clean, orderly and well cared for. We compliment Sheriff Saxe and his assistants for the manner in which the public property entrusted to them has been cared for.

Holiday Confections

Candied Orange Peel

(Tuck in The Corners Of Boxes)

2 cups orange peel 1 cup water

Wash peels and cover by 4 inches with water. Boil gently 30 minutes.

Drain well, rinse in cold water and with spoon, scoop out and discard all pulp and white portion next to yellow skin. Using scissors, cut skin into thin strips, if preferred, skin can be spread out and fancy shapes cut out, using very small vegetable cutters. Boil sugar and water 2 minutes. Add peel and boil slowly until all syrup has been absorbed by peel. Stir frequently. Remove few strings at a time, roll in granulated sugar, straighten out to dry. When cool store in airtight box.

Stuffed Dates

(Popular With Old And Young)

24 dates 1/2 cup granulated sugar

Using knife dipped in cold water, cut out seeds from dates. Stuff dates with nuts. Roll in confectioner's sugar, store in airtight box.

Pop Corn Balls (12)

1 cup popped corn 1 tablespoon vinegar

1 cup molasses 1/2 cup water

1/2 cup sugar 1/2 teaspoon butter

Mix molasses, sugar, butter, vinegar and water. Boil gently without stirring until "hard click" ball-forms when portion is tested in cup of cold water. Add soda and mix well. Pour over popped corn, mixing so that each kernel is covered with syrup mixture. When cool enough to handle, take portions up in the hands, which have been spread with butter, and press into balls. Cool and wrap in waxed papers, stringing ends. Have these on hand to give to the Christmas children visitors.

Individual mince tarts make suitable gifts to send to the neighbors on Christmas morning.

OFFICIALS RECEIVE STRANGE REQUESTS

Loan for Mile-High Tower Is One Proposal.

Washington.—Money-saving ideas more novel than feasible are received daily by the federal government's public works administration, which is charged with placing the $2,300,000,000 emergency fund into pay roll-producing projects as quickly as possible.

A project to build a steel tower one mile high, containing of platforms (one for each state) and a runway to motorists could drive to the top is one proposal.

The proposal explained that it would not only provide a vast number of man-years of employment to those seeking work, but also it would solve another problem of surplus gasoline, which motorists would consume driving up the structure.

Another application is that of the owner of a circus that has seen better days. He wants a rehabilitation loan and stands ready to post three elephants with the government as security.

Another man insists that a fleet of concrete battleships not only will place America in its rightful place on the seas but will also put thousands of men to work pouring the concrete for ships, which he guarantees will not sink.

A mathematician figured out that construction of a rocket ship capable of reaching the moon would exhaust a large part of the fund and serve as a boon to science as well, in addition to curtailing unemployment.

Another project involves the erection of three high-speed belts running from New York to San Francisco, on which persons could travel at a hundred miles an hour or better. Examination, however, disclosed that no provision had been made for passengers to alight at points of destination.

A town of 4,000 persons sought a loan to build a maternity hospital equipped to care for 1,000 births a year.

May Pierce Mont Blanc
With a Vehicle Tunnel

Paris.—Mont Blanc, Europe's highest mountain, soon may be pierced by a vehicular tunnel.

The eternal snows of this peak, which look down on three countries, soon may see a thriving traffic from Chamonix to the beautiful valley of Aosta, in Italy, uniting France and Italy in closer bonds, and bringing Switzerland into the stream because the direct vehicular line from Paris to Rome under Mont Blanc would pass through Geneva.

The proposed vehicular tunnel would cut the motor trip from Paris to Rome from three to two days' run, and it is estimated that it would pay for itself in five years. It would be about 12 kilometers long.

State Counciler Antoine Bron, of the Canton of Geneva, is actively interested in the tunnel and has been conducting negotiations with the French minister of public works, Paganon. A geological report already has been completed, and the plans of the French engineer, M. Monod, who prepared a railroad tunnel in 1907, will be used with little modification.

Girl Shines Shoes to Earn Living in Chicago

Chicago.—"Where there's a will there's a way" is a rule adopted in practical fashion by a twenty-year-old girl in Chicago. She's shining shoes for a living and doesn't mind the job.

She's Ruth Benton. It's not her real name; she assumed it after coming from the East, where she said she attended college. She isn't shining shoes for experience but to earn her board and room rent.

Women, she said, seem to be shunning her shining stand, but she isn't discouraged.

"Shine 'em up! Shine 'em up!" her voice rings cheerfully.

Wko, Nev.—Immigration officers who arrested a Chinaman at Wendover were mystified when he admitted he did not know the name under which he was admitted to this country in 1904.

Federal agents had detained him, pending an investigation into his right to remain in the United States.

The Chinese said he came into America just before the immigration bars were raised. The agents looked into the matter, found his story was true, and informed the Chinese his name was Wong Wong. Wong is sixty-five and employed on a Western Pacific section gang.

Insull Now Plans To Go To England

Athens, Greece, Dec. 19.—P. Samuel Insull, dejected American utilities czar, plans to go to England when his police residence permit in this country expires January 21. It was reported here today.

Local British authorities informed of the report, said if Mr. Insull applied no visa would be granted him until instructions were received from London.

The 74-year-old fugitive has been remaining in bed most of the time since he was informed he would have to leave Greece.

Originally, he was told his departure would be expected when his permit would regularly have expired, December 21. On his formal application, an extension was granted to January 21.

Greek courts twice have refused to permit the former Chicagoan's extradition to the United States to face embezzlement charges based on the collapse of his far-flung utilities empire.

At the time he was granted an extension, Insull was told his passport would be visaed to any country he chose to visit upon leaving Greece. His passport, however, has been revoked by the United States and it was pointed out he would have to travel on temporary papers.

Nevertheless, Insull was understood today to be negotiating in regard to his passport.

FEDERATED P. T. A. WILL MEET ON WEDNESDAY

Will Marry Wife in Every State in U. S.

New York.—George Shute, New York newspaper man, considers himself so lucky to have Dorothy Morrison, Broadway actress, as his bride that he is going to marry her in every state in the Union, he announced.

"In spite of the local ceremony, I feel immense every time a handsome fellow looks at Dorothy," Shute said. "So I've gotten a leave of absence and we're going to say 'I do' in every state from the rock-ribbed coast of Maine to the sunny slopes of California."

Shute said he and Miss Morrison would have within a month of their marital union.

Lindberghs Come To End Of Their Great Adventure

Journey of About 25,000 Miles. Touched 31 Countries and Colonies—Take-off From Charleston. South Carolina Made at 3:41 A. M.—New Yorkers Eager To Welcome Flying Couple Home Today

New York, Dec. 19.—The Lindberghs arrived in New York today after a journey of about 25,000 miles, touching 31 countries and colonies. The couple took off from Charleston, S. C., at 3:41 A. M. on Dec. 11, and landed at New York at 1:15 P. M. today. The Lindberghs were met at the airport by a large crowd of people, including many children. The couple was then taken to the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, where they will stay for a few days before returning to their home in Minneapolis, Minn.

The Lindberghs' journey was a remarkable feat of aviation. They flew from Charleston, S. C., to New York, N. Y., in a single day. The couple was accompanied by their two children, Anne and Charles. The journey was a testament to the couple's courage and skill as aviators.

Yorkers were eager to welcome Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh home today but were quite sure where to go to do so.

A sizeable crowd gathered at North Beach Airport in Queens, many lined up at Floyd Bennett Field in Brooklyn and others were scattered all over the city, waiting for the Lindberghs to arrive.

The crowd at Floyd Bennett Field, however, was the largest. When the Lindberghs arrived, they were greeted by a cheering throng. The couple was then taken to the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, where they will stay for a few days before returning to their home in Minneapolis, Minn.

Sharks' Teeth and Nose Prove Valuable to Them

Sharks have long been feared for their sharp teeth. But a recent study has shown that their teeth and noses are also valuable to them. The study found that sharks use their teeth to catch and hold their prey. Their noses are used to detect the scent of their prey. This study was conducted by a team of scientists at the University of California, San Diego.

Colored Girls Bleach

Men of the Guajira tribe, in tropical America, prefer girls with pale faces. So Guajira mothers with eligible daughters shut the girls up in dark rooms to bleach out their complexions and make them attractive to prospective suitors. This unique custom is reported by a representative of the University of Arizona, who made a study of the primitive Guajira Indians of northern Venezuela. Describing these Indians, she said that in Guajira households the mothers are supreme. Guajira girls are put on the marriage market. The mothers have a system of selling their daughters to eligible young men of the tribe. Blood revenge holds a dominating place in the life of this primitive tribe. The number of the population meeting a violent death because of the payment of wrongs demanded in blood is something appalling, she declared.

Poison Hemlock Common

The hemlock plant, source of the favorite poison of the early Greeks, is also the source of valuable medicines made from the leaves and the fruit. The plant is common, the spotted hemlock being most generally seen along roadsides and on dumps. It grows from two to five feet high and has a green hollow stem. The Greeks used the hemlock to execute prisoners condemned to death, a distillation being given the unhappy victim to drink.

Y.W.C.A. Girls To Play Santa Claus

The girls of the Y. W. C. A. are cooperating with Santa Claus this year in the project of bringing Christmas cheer to the needy children of Kingston. The names of the children have been furnished by Miss Mary Bott, director of the Home Relief, and it is hoped to provide for at least 450, most of them ranging in age from three to 14 years.

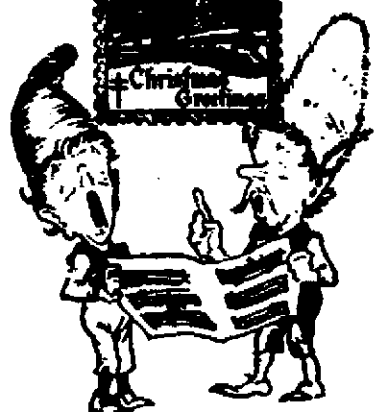

The committee in charge of the service work is assembling toys, candy, fruit, and clothing, and many generous gifts have already been received, but there is still need for more donations of money or articles.

The service project is sponsored by members of the Business and Professional Girls' Club, with Miss Jessie Goodsell as chairman assisted by the following committee: Miss Katherine Millard, Miss Helen Bryant, Miss Alma Tyler, Miss Marion Phillips, Miss Beatrice Powley, Miss Ruth Bell, Miss Elsie Phillips, Miss Ethel Skelton, Miss Emily Hoystradt, Miss Helen Bradbur, Miss Helen Rogers, Miss Janet Phillips. The Young Married Women's Club is also co-operating under the leadership of Mrs. Leonard Flecker, Mrs. N. H. Fuller, Mrs. Stanley M. Winne, Mrs. Clarence Schoonmaker, Mrs. William Budenhagen, Mrs. Frederick Coombs, Mrs. James Rowe, Mrs. Anos McCreary, Mrs. Claire Dreesen, Mrs. William G. Newkirk, Mrs. Richard Emerick, Mrs. Louis Kozler.

The committees are working this week on the final purchasing and the bags will be packed on Friday and distributed on Saturday morning.

MORE THAN ADEQUATE

"We've got to give him something that'll buck up his nose and make him stammer," said the veterinarian, called to treat the lumberjack. "Mix up a pint of linseed oil, some cancer oil and red pepper. Let me know how he feels in the morning."

The next morning the foreman called the horse doctor on the phone. "Lars sneezed last night," he said. "That's fine," said the doctor. "How many times?"

"Three," said the foreman. "Once before and twice after he died."—Kansas City Star.

OFTEN HAPPENS

Ethel—Jack tried to kiss me last night.

Ethel—But he was interrupted.
Marie—How annoying.

Something Else

He had arrived home late, and his wife was giving him a piece of her mind.

"I don't care, my dear," he said, getting really worked up. "I mean exactly what I say. I'm a man who calls a spade a spade."

His wife nodded.
"Maybe, Henry," she said with biting sarcasm, "but you don't call a club a club, you call that working late at the office."

Cruel Revenge

"Did our girl friend marry the handsome stranger for wealth?"

"He hasn't any," answered Miss Cayenne.

"For a title?"

"It was not entirely authentic."

"Then she married him for love?"

"No. He bothered her so much that I suspect she married him for spite."—Washington Star.

Might Help a Little

"You don't look well."

"I can't sleep a wink. If I don't get $20,000 by next Tuesday I must declare myself bankrupt."

"My dear fellow, why didn't you come to me before?"

"What? Can you raise the money?"

"No, but I have an excellent remedy for insomnia."

SKIDDING

"While we were gazing at the beautiful sunset last evening, Tom said it reminded him of me."

"He probably meant because it was swiftly fading away."

Couldn't Blame Him

A waiter in a small restaurant was having a trying time with a facetious customer.

"Waiter," shouted the customer, "what on earth is wrong with these eggs?"

"I don't know," retorted the waiter; "I only laid the table."

Depends on the Dog

A very small boy was trying to lead a St. Bernard dog up the road.

"Where are you going to take the dog, my little man?" inquired a passerby.

"I'm—I'm—going to see where he wants to go from," said the boy.

Dolling Up the Neighbors

"What has kept you so late?"

"I was putting a new ribbon on my typewriter."

"You ought to be ashamed to own it. You get rid of it or there'll be trouble."

Jury Completed In Negligence Action

Brought by Thomas E. Kolb, an Administrator, Etc., Against Mason Millens—Action Arises Out of Fatal Auto Crash.

A jury was completed Monday afternoon in the negligence action brought by Thomas E. Kolb, an administrator, etc., against Mason Millens. The action arises out of an accident on the Saugerties road last spring when a car driven by Marion O'Donnell collided with a truck operated by the defendant. Donald Kolb, of Mt. Marion, aged 9, was killed. The party were en route to Kingston to attend a motion picture show and it is alleged that the truck had run out of gas and was parked at the side of the road. The O'Donnell car, driven by Miss O'Donnell, Cemenston school teacher, collided with the truck, which it was alleged did not display proper lights to the rear. This is denied by the operator of the truck. Three people were killed, the Kolb boy, Mrs. Katherine Lanigan of Mt. Marion and her 9 year old son, William. Miss O'Donnell was severely injured and remained at the hospital for some time. Brinnier & Eickworth appear for plaintiff and A. J. Cook for defendant. An action brought for the death of Mrs. Lanigan and her son was settled.

Highland Artist Exhibits

New York, Dec. 18 (Special).—De-ro Jacobs of Highland is exhibiting a picture entitled "A Drawing" in the current student exhibition being held here in the art gallery of the Art Students League. More than 25 per cent of the League's students this year are out of town residents, and a large number from this group are among those represented in the exhibition. Also among the exhibitors is Bernard H. Bernstein, scholarship winning ironworker of Brooklyn.

Matters Before The Surrogate

Among wills recently admitted to probate before Surrogate George F. Kaufman is that of Edward H. Sothern, famous Shakespearean actor, a resident of Highmount, Ulster county, who died at the Plaza Hotel, New York city, October 28. The executrix is his widow, Julia Marlowe Sothern of Highmount, who is named sole legatee and devisee. The estate is valued at about $2,000 real and about $40,000 personal. Attorneys for the petitioner are Hayden and Post of New York city. In addition to his wife Mr. Sothern left a sister, Eva M. Smith, of 139 Castellan Mansions, Maidvale, London, England. In event Mrs. Sothern had predeceased her husband the estate would have gone to the Actors' Fund of America. The will was executed April 15, 1929.

The will of George Van Anden, who died at the Orthmann Sanatorium, Kingston, November 25, has been admitted to probate upon petition of William C. Van Anden of Big Indian, George W. and Frank Van Anden of Kingston, sons, who are named executors. Under the will the wife, Anna Lasher Van Anden, was given a life estate in the property. She died March 6, 1925, and the estate now goes to the sons. The will was executed March 1, 1911. The estate is valued at $2,500 real and $550 personal. J. DePuy Hasbrouck is the attorney.

Letters of administration in the estate of Sylvia A. Stall, formerly of Rosendale, who died in West New York, N. J., October 27, granted on petition of Robert A. Stall of West New York, son and heir at law. There is a house and lot on the Lucas Turnpike, estimated value $2,500, subject to mortgage, and personal of not to exceed $300. V. B. Van Wageningen is the attorney.

Will of Martha Washington, late of New Paltz, who died in Kingston Hospital November 7, admitted to

Something To Talk About

A lively debate on a timely topic should add zest to any club program, and almost every organization has members who would be glad to debate—if they had a little coaching. probate upon petition of Thomas Washington of New Paltz, son, who is named executor and who is the beneficiary under the will. There is real estate of an estimated value of $1,500 and personal of about $100. Peter H. Harp is the attorney.

Letters of administration granted to Pauline Weber, wife, in the estate of Leon Weber, formerly of the town of Gardiner, who died in Cornwall August 14. There is a farm in the town of Gardiner, estimated value $7,000, subject to mortgage, and personal of not to exceed $100. Cashin & Ewig are the attorneys.

Will of Katherine Robbins, who died in Ruby October 23, admitted to probate upon petition of Matilda Weingaertner of Westwood, N. J., sister, who is named executrix. Real property is valued at approximately $2,500 and personal $100. Joseph M. Conroy is the attorney. To a sister, Elizabeth Wainwright, is given $100. Remainder of the estate, Matilda Weingaertner, sister.

Will of Anthony (Antonio) Gentile, late of Kingston, who died in Kingston November 25, admitted to probate. The will disposed of an estate valued at more than $5,000 real and more than $5,000 personal. The estate is given to the wife, Rose L. Gentile, who is named executrix. Contingent beneficiaries are the two children, Anthony J. and Helen Gentile. William H. Grogan, attorney.

GOING Christmas shopping without knowing what you're going to buy is like trying to use a pay phone without a directory.

Going Christmas shopping without knowing what you're going to spend is like trying to use the phone without a nickel.

You may get through on the first—for the stores are full of pleasant surprises. But go hit or miss on spending—and either your Christmas list or your Christmas budget is bound to strike a snag.

The ad reading habit is invaluable at Christmas time. It lets you plan your list in advance. You know what you're going to give to whom. You know how much it's going to cost . . . down to the last little penny.

Reading the ads saves you many a weary footstep . . . Many a jostle and shove . . . many a disappointment. Reading the ads, you'll almost always find you can save a few dollars to buy a nicer gift for someone very special or to bank away for next Christmas.

And remember this! Advertised merchandise is always better merchandise. At Christmas time. And all the year 'round.

Polish Cagers Meet Hebrews Tonight

Tonight at White Eagle Hall, Delaware avenue, the Z. N. P. Sporting Club cagers will play one of two games it has scheduled for this week, meeting the Hebrew-Americans at 9 o'clock.

Last year the Polish boys scored over the Hebrews and hope to do the same in this evening's skirmish, but the visitors plan on pressing them to the limit to even the standing. A fast contest is expected.

Both clubs will use their regular lineups.

Hebrew-Americans: O. Barch, M. Barch, J. Spitzer, H. Schain, B. Goldfarb, M. Barch, and S. Rosenberg. Z. N. P.: Kieffer, Kennoch, Kolano, Quest, J. Keizer, J. Dadek and the Muskatlewer brothers.

At 8 o'clock the Z. N. P. Girls will play the Friendly Five of Holy Cross Church and at 1 o'clock the Z. N. P. Juniors and Five Aces will clash.

The other game for the Z. N. P. Sporting Club this week is Thursday night at Poughkeepsie where it will meet the Elbing Brewers at the Pitar Cane Club.

Wednesday night at their own court, the Downtown Jewish Community Center, the Hebrew-Americans will play the West Point Helixes at 8:45. There will be a preliminary at 7:45 between the Varsity Five and Fullers, two girls' teams.

Columbia Ready For Trip To Pasadena

New York, Dec. 19 (AP)—Columbia's football squad was ready to shove off today on the long trek to Pasadena and the New Year's Day Rose Bowl engagement with Stanford.

The party of 64, including 30 players, will leave at 3:40 o'clock this afternoon. Coaches, trainers, officials, alumni and newspapermen make up the balance of the party. No official send-off was on the program.

Five-gallon jugs of water, 75 of them, enough to provide for the team's needs, until after the big game, are to be stowed away on board the train.

The team will arrive at St. Louis at 1:20 p. m. tomorrow and will be hustled off to the St. Louis University field for a workout. Light drills will be held also at Dallas and El Paso, Ariz., for an intensive week's practice before proceeding to Pasadena.

State Director of Finance Roland A. Vandergrift is advocating the finger printing of all persons handling California state funds.

HOW

BALLOONS AND LANTERNS HELP THE WEATHER MAN—Small, free balloons carrying little paper lanterns or tiny electric lights up through the air, says Scientific American, make possible night time forecasts of the velocity and direction of the wind of different atmospheric levels. The electric lights, which are heavier and more expensive than the candle-lit lanterns, are used only where there is danger that forest fires might be started by the lanterns, which sometimes burst into flames.

Meteorologists can follow the gleam of the illuminated pilot balloons after dark as easily as they can watch the unlighted balloons by day.

Each pilot balloon, about thirty inches in diameter, is filled with just enough hydrogen to insure ascension at a uniform rate of 600 feet a minute. The ascent is carefully timed and watched through a theodolite, an instrument something like a surveyor's transit, on which angular readings of the balloon's position are made at one-minute intervals. From the readings thus obtained meteorologists compute the balloon's direction and speed of travel for each minute of flight. This reveals the velocity and direction of air currents.

Continuing the pilot balloon runs by night gives nocturnal flyers the guide they need for steering clear of air levels and keeping in the levels of favorable following winds.

How Strained Honey Is Kept in Natural Form

The bureau of chemistry says that nearly all varieties of honey will crystallize, but the extent to which this takes place varies due to the variation in the relative amounts of dextrose and levulose in them. Some honeys, such as alfalfa and white clover, crystallize nearly completely while others, such as sage and tupelo, remain liquid under practically all conditions of temperature, etc. Crystallization of honey which is bottled or canned on a commercial scale is, therefore, largely prevented by suitable blending of the types which readily granulate with those that do not.

Honey which has already begun to crystallize may be restored to its usual condition by emptying into a suitable container, which should then be placed in another of water, the water brought to boiling, and the boiling continued for a sufficient length of time to raise the temperature of the honey to 130 degrees Fahrenheit. The temperature of the honey should be held at that point until all crystals present are dissolved, as long heating at higher temperatures will discolor the honey and modify or destroy its flavor.

How Colonies Differed

The Plymouth colony was settled by individuals who were seeking to make homes for themselves and their families in a land where they could have religious freedom and opportunity for development. The Virginia settlement was by a company which desired to realize monetary profit. The first settlers were nearly all gentlemen and were absolutely worthless in settling a wilderness. In the Plymouth colony the settlers immediately built small homes for themselves and began to till small plots of ground. The directors of the Virginia company held a large portion of the land, which was to be tilled by servants of the company. This colony desired to create estates of moderate size.

How Bridge Began

Recent alterations in the laws of bridge have stimulated interest in the origin of what is now the most popular of card games. Under the name of "British" bridge was played in Constantinople in the seventies of last century. From there it spread gradually to Cairo, the Riviera, London and New York. Everywhere it went it ousted its parent game, whist. The actual first game of bridge seems to have been played at the Villa Cornoni, on the Upper Bosphorus, in August, 1873. Its inventor, M. Serphidi, a gentleman of Rumanian origin, was one of the four players on this historic occasion. None of the four now survives. Of course, the laws of the game have been altered a good deal since then. The first formal code was drawn up in the seventies by a committee of members of a Constantinople club.

How Snow Is Measured

Snow is measured in two ways, by approximate method; on a lawn or other surface, where the snow has not drifted, and a more accurate measurement, with a snow gauge, in which the catch is melted and weighed or measured to determine the fall. The weather bureau estimates that ten inches of snow equals one inch of rain.

How Old Pottery Really Is

Proof of its great antiquity is found in the fact that gracefully formed bottle ware was produced in Egypt before the potter's wheel was known, some pieces being painted by hand. Over 7,000 years before Christ clay vessels were covered with hard glass glaze.

How Far Camel Goes Without Drink

When crossing the desert, camels are expected to carry their loads 25 miles a day for three days without drinking. The fiercer breeds carry their rider and a bag of water 50 miles a day for five days without drinking.

Feminine Residents of Seattle, Wash., wore sunbonnets to mark the eight-second anniversary of the founding of the city.

GENEROUS RESPONSE TO CALL BY PRESBYTERIANS FOR TOYS

A generous response to the appeal for discarded toys to be given to underprivileged children at Christmas, is reported by the officers of the Young People's Society of the First Presbyterian Church. Tonight the church will be opened for the receipt of articles from the many who have promised to donate toys, games, children's books or small clothing, and work will begin on getting the various items ready for their new friends.

Anyone wishing to contribute may call Elta Bishop, 304-J, Seymour Courtant 2024, Earle Tongue 2742-W, Fred Carpenter 1089-M, or any other member of the Christadelphian Society, who will arrange to pick up the toys offered. The committee especially requests that gifts be given them before Wednesday in order that they may determine just how many children they will be able to play Santa Claus to.

Candlelight Service At New Paltz Church

New Paltz, Dec. 19.—Sunday, December 17, in the Methodist Church, the annual candlelight service was held. There was a fine attendance. The evening service began at 7:30 p. m. The Scripture was from Matthew 21:1-11. The pastor sang an anthem and the pastor's sermon subject was "The Kingdom of God." There was an Epworth League or regular church service.

Members of the Epworth League presented a candlelight pageant, "Angels of Christmas." The program was as follows: Organ prelude, The Muses, Blanche Guinac and Henriette Wicks entered, one from each side of the front of the church, dressed in white, carrying a lighted candle, with which they lit the candles on the altar. The congregation sang "O Come All Ye Faithful," while the pastor and the two young ladies with their lighted candles proceeded up the center aisle and took their places on the platform.

The pageant was then presented. The characters were: The first angel, Henriette Wicks; second angel, Blanche Guinac; love, Joyce Mauterstock; forgiveness, Grace Mauterstock; comfort, Mary Yost; joy, Madeline Dayton; courage, George Smith; peace, Elizabeth Hasbrouck; truth, William Hasbrouck; good will, Forrest Hasbrouck; gratitude, Margaret McCormick; Mary, Grace Mauterstock; Joseph, Joseph Graham; Virginia, Gertrude Keller; Charlotte, Elaine Kniffen; Elizabeth, Gertrude Small; Margaret, Frances Mauterstock; imagination, Bernice DuBois. The young people deserve much credit for the beautiful and impressive program.

In spite of the bad weather, there was a large attendance. The church was beautifully decorated, under the supervision of Edward Guinac. The wreaths in the windows were made by young people.

The potted poinsettia on the altar Sunday morning was given by the Seekers' Class in memory of Mrs. Mary Haverfield.

The TRUTH about Gin Distillation

There is no formula or process of refining ever devised by the foremost distilleries in England which is not complied with by Baird-Daniels Co. We are not amateurs in this business. We have been distilling gin (except during the dry era) since 1885 from processes used for centuries in the making of the finest imported gins. • The flavor in genuine dry gins comes from the blending of a combination of raw materials. In Baird-Daniels gins, these raw materials are the best to be had—for example—selected juniper berries imported from Italy especially for us. The alcohol—a specially distilled pure cologne spirit—is a more expensive grade than is generally used. The purity comes through an additional distillation which eliminates all poisonous matter and fusel oils. • Only with the finest imported gins can you compare Baird-Daniels products—except as to cost. Import duties, freight charges, etc., give buyers of Oxford Club Dry, made in the U. S. A., a decided price advantage.

Gin Distilling is an Art

London gave it the highest report, 1910

It cannot be learned in a day. We were the first people to make true English and Holland Gins in America. Mr. William Baird, founder, came from a family of distillers in Europe, and the formula for making English gin was handed down for generations in his family. Mr. E. J. Daniels, executive of the Netherlands Steam Distillery, Rotterdam, Holland, brought with him to America the fundamentals of the production of Holland Gins. The trade, clubs, hotels, cafes and the public soon realized that Baird-Daniels quality was not only equal to imported gins, but was superior in many respects.

"This Dry Gin possesses an especially good flavor and, from its composition as indicated by the analysis, it is fairly entitled to be described as a spirit of very high quality and exceptional purity." E. Godwin Clayton, England's famous authority.

Never "bootlegged"

In the first place, none of the products of Baird-Daniels Co. was available for purposes of imitation, the plants having shut down immediately upon passage of the 18th Amendment. But even if there had been, the Baird-Daniels double distillation formula is a closely guarded secret—and also a process much too costly to try to imitate.

That is why the name Oxford Club Dry may not be familiar to this generation—but any "old timer" will testify to the quality and the purity of Baird-Daniels products in pre-prohibition days. That standard is still maintained, and now with repeal, you can enjoy the same clean, pure, double distilled gin exactly as it was of old. And remember too—

Hotel Astor, Times Sq., N. Y., endorses OXFORD CLUB DRY

"Back in 1917, I placed an order with the late Mr. John Daniels for one case of Oxford Club Dry Gin. Our second order was for two (2) cases, then we followed one for 3 cases. We had to exercise great care in selecting anything we proffered our guests and Dry Gin, the most important base for mixed drinks (it is 80% of all ingredients used) was a factor. Just prior to Prohibition in 1919, we were using 750 cases of Oxford Club Dry Gin each month.

"My experience as a purveyor of over 25 years is not essential. Common sense will suffice to acknowledge the public's welcome of a clean double distilled gin over the miserable and injurious so-called bathtub concoctions that have no more right to the name 'Gin' than has any rank fluid poison.

"Your success is assured, knowing you will offer to the trade and through them to the consumer, Oxford Club Dry Gin as I knew it of old."

(Signed) Wm. N. Nigey, Mgt.
